An Amish Sweet Christian Romance suitable for all ages.

Cara Simmons is driven to uncover secrets that were buried long ago in Lancaster County, but how can she do so without devastating the one person who might become the most vital part of her future?

She arrives at the Farmers Market in Central Lancaster with one agenda: to meet Linda Miller and find out the truth about her past. If she doesn't, her life might be in peril.

However, when she meets handsome Jake Byler, her plan is thrown off course. He distracts her from her mission and she becomes confused about her life.

In order to find out more, she must convert, or at least give the appearance of doing so.

What she didn't count on was the comfort she gains from living the simple life, being with God-fearing people and the emotions that she experiences when she's in the company of a kind and compassionate man like Jake.

Although she feels anxiety about her future, converting to the Amish faith, restoring an important relationship and exploring the possibility of a romance with a man unlike any other she's ever met, she's doing it all on her own strength. She's forgetting about the One who has plans for her, plans to give her a hope and a future.

Will Cara slow down and listen to God's plans or continue to flounder at full speed on her own? Can the peace of the People extend to Cara's shattered life? Is Jake merely a distraction to her main goal?

Come back to Lancaster County for the second novel of the series and find out why people are drawn to the place where time stands still and people spend their lives on relationships.

The 'Love in Lancaster County' series is set in south central Pennsylvania, sometimes nicknamed the Garden Spot of America or Pennsylvania Dutch Country where the Amish lead a simple life of peace and faith.
